

Mother Strikes Back

Asako Mizusawa is a fifty-year-old housewife. She endured her bullying mother-in-law when her husband, Hiroyuki, decided to move in with his parents. And while she regained her freedom when her mother-in-law passed away, a life-changing event took place just two years later.

It happened when her son Yuta married a woman named Ririka. Asako is now the mother-in-law.

Asako did not approve of the marriage, but she was willing to accept it on one condition: they all live together under the same roof. She thought it would never happen, but Ririka agreed with a smile.

Ririka invited Asako to drink some wine on the first day they began living together. They had a lively conversation about marital problems and Asako even mentioned an affair her husband had. The two appeared to be getting along, but it was all a ploy by Ririka to learn more about Asako.

From the next day on, Asako notices Ririka doing suspicious things. Wanting to know more, she begins to snoop around. She learns that Ririka used to work at a bar and fooled around with her customers.

Meanwhile, a man in the neighborhood disappears. Detectives investigating the disappearance begin looking toward Ririka...
