Tomoyoshi Sakamoto Born in Tochigi Prefecture in 1985. Artist. Graduated from the Tokyo University of the Arts, Department of Design in 2008. He uses a distinctive soft focus to illustrate a cute and bittersweet, yet slightly unforgiving world of expression. His works also carry a hint of cynicism towards subcultures in Japan. He was awarded the 12th Liqitex Biennale Encouragement Award in 2009. He has held eight solo exhibitions to date, which includes his 'There may be over 40,000 km between Love and Hate' exhibition at Art Lab TOKYO in 2016, and has also participated in various domestic and international group exhibitions, such as Art Fair Tokyo and more.
